September 25

"Hummingbirds: Delicate Gems or Sky Kings," a slide talk presented by Romney Bathurst as part of the Village Nature Series in Cashiers, 7:00PM, Cashiers Commons. For further information call Romney, 526-1939.

September 26

No Greenway walk this Wednesday.

Instead, join Land Trust for the Little Tennessee for a bird walk in Jackson County led by Dr. Jeremy Hyman, professor of biology specializing in birds and their behaviors.

Meet at 8:30 a.m. at the Jackson County Rec Park in Cullowhee. RSVP to Jill at 828-524-2711 ext. 304.

September 29

HPAS walk along Whiteside Cove Road and in Horse Cove. "Confusing Fall Warblers," a phrase coined by Roger Tory Peterson, will be targets, along with confusing fall other birds! Romney Bathurst will lead, with Pat Strickland and Ann Campbell assisting. Meet behind Highlands Town Hall near the public restrooms at 7:30AM for car-pooling. Parking is limited along this route, but most birding will be done from roadside or on flat trails, so the walking should be easy. For more information, call Ann at 743-9942.

September 29

Joel Hitt will present a program on the Whopping Cranes who spent 3 months in fields in Hayesville during the winter. Joel will present the story of how dedicated staff and volunteers have spent many long hours saving these wonderful five-foot birds on our "Endangered Species List." He will describe the efforts that must be taken to bring about this monumental task of placing them back in the wild. 2:00 pm, Moss Memorial Library, Hayesville. For information call: (828) 389-8401 Funded by Fred A. Moss Charity Trust.
